

A man's face is visible through a large, bright yellow sun-shaped cutout. The cutout is positioned in the foreground, partially obscuring a grassy park area. In the background, there are several large trees and a path, suggesting a sunny day in a park. The man has a slightly concerned or weary expression.

SHADE GOOD.

The sun's good, but too much of it is bad for you and can lead to skin cancer later in life. Protect yourself by using sunscreen, wearing a hat, or even staying in the shade. For more info, visit www.ucan.cc
